

Acceptance test

User story#1 - As a customer, I want to be able to create an account and/or log in into an existing account because I want to be able to shop for products.

Positive case

1. The customer clicks 'Login' button.
2. Login form appears.
3. The customer enters correct information and clicks 'Login' button.
4. The customer clicks on their desired category.
5. A list of available products related to the clicked category and their description will be shown.

Negative case

1. The customer clicks 'Login' button.
2. Login form appears.
3. The customer enters incorrect information and clicks 'Login' button.
4. An error message is displayed.

User story#2 - As a seller, I want to be able to create an account and/or log in into an existing account because I want to add/edit/modify a product.

Positive case

1. The seller clicks 'Login' button.
2. Login form will appear.
3. Seller enters correct information and clicks 'Login' button.
4. 'My Products' button appears.
5. The seller clicks on 'My Products' button.
6. The list of products of the seller appears with their buttons 'Delete' and 'Modify'.
7. The seller clicks 'Add Product' button.
8. Add product form will appear.
9. Seller enters correct information and clicks 'Add Product' button.
10. The list of products of the seller updates. It will contain the new added product that also has 'Delete' and 'Modify' button.
11. The list of products for users to browse updates with the new added product of the seller and its information.

Negative case

1. The seller clicks 'Login' button.
2. Login form will appear.
3. Seller enters correct information and clicks 'Login' button.
4. 'My Products' button appears.
5. The seller clicks on 'My Products' button.
6. The list of products of the seller appears with their buttons 'Delete' and 'Modify'.
7. The seller clicks 'Delete' button of one product.
8. The list of products of the seller remains the same and does not update.
9. The list of available products for customers to browse does not update with the deleted product of the seller.

User story#3 - As an administrator, I want to be able to add/delete/modify an account because I want to be able to maintain the website.

Positive case

1. The administrator clicks 'Login' button.
2. Login form appears.
3. Administrator enters correct information and clicks 'Login' button.
4. 'Manage profiles' button appears.
5. The administrator clicks 'Manage profiles' button.
6. The list of profiles of the website appears with their button 'Delete' and 'Modify'.
7. The administrator clicks 'Add user' button.
8. Add user form appears.
9. Administrator enters correct information and clicks Add user' button.
10. The list of profiles of the website will be updated. It will contain the new added user that also has 'Delete' and 'Modify' button.

Negative case

1. The administrator clicks 'Login' button.
2. Login form appears.
3. Administrator enters correct information and clicks 'Login' button.
4. 'Manage profiles' button appears.
5. The administrator clicks 'Manage profiles' button.
6. The list of profiles of the website appears with their button 'Delete' and 'Modify'.
7. The administrator clicks 'Delete' button of one of the users.
8. The list of profiles of the website will not be updated with the deleted user.

User story#4 - As a customer, I want to be able to filter the products by their categories and/or prices because I want to be able to browse for a specific product.

Positive case

1. The customer clicks 'Filter' button.
2. Filter form appears.
3. The customers enters valid filtering information and clicks 'Filter' button.
4. The list of available products is filtered matching the information entered previously.

Negative case

1. The customer clicks 'Filter' button.
2. Filter form appears.
3. The customers enters invalid filtering information and clicks 'Filter' button.
4. An error message is displayed.